New Pontiff Will Follow

VATICAN CITY, March 4.—His eloquent plea for peace before the world, Pope Pius XII turned his attention today to his coming coronation March 12 and the appointment of his successor as papal secretary of state.

The new pontiff gave orders for decorations in St. Peter's Basilica for the coronation ceremony, which is expected to rival in brilliance any service seen at the Vatican for many years.

Revive Procession

It may also revive the traditional procession around Rome in which the Pope takes possession of papal property outside Vatican City.

Pius XII is the first pontiff elected since termination of the papal "captivity" in the Vatican, and thus for the first time since 1870, the procession will be possible.

Reports, meanwhile, spread that the Pope may appoint Federico Cardinal Tedeschini as papal secretary of state. He acted as under secretary of state during the tense days of the war.

During the coronation ceremony, the people of Rome may have a chance to view the climax of the entire ceremony—the placing upon the head of the Pope of the triple crown.

This part of the ceremony, it was reported, may take place on the outer balcony of the Basilica.

To Follow Pope Pius XI

The new pontiff has not permitted his election as Pope to cause any change in his living habits. For the time being, it was stated, he

PA NEW OBSERVES

According to the weather forecaster at Pittsburgh, the spring weather is not to continue, but a respite into winter is due about tomorrow.

Today marks the sixth anniversary of the inauguration as president of Franklin D. Roosevelt. His first term began on March 4, but during his term of office the change in inauguration day from March to January was made so that he was inaugurated for his second term, in January.

No new detours are listed on the current Detour Bulletin of the Pennsylvania State Highway department for the period ending March 17. With the approach of spring, however, new contracts are being let and soon the red detour marks will begin to be more numerous on the bulletin.

Late Friday afternoon, a number of the children, could be seen playing marbles on the grounds of the Margaret Henry Home. The walks and lawns were free of snow and ice, and it had been a nice sunny day. The leafless trees and the lawns, surrounding the Home, seemed to be inviting Spring to hurry with their green dresses.

With the return of these nice warm pre-spring days, the grass fire menace is beginning to make its appearance. Firemen have had several calls to extinguish grass fires in the past few days. Many of these calls are unnecessary and could be put out by the individuals discovering them themselves. A broom is one of the most effective weapons, as it sweeps the fire out instantly. This is what the firemen use.

President Observing Sixth Anniversary

WASHINGTON, March 4.—President Roosevelt returned to the national capital today to observe the sixth anniversary of his inauguration, attend divine services, address a joint session of congress, dine with his cabinet and plunge back into the partisan turmoil over his foreign and domestic policies.

Mahogany-hued and physically restored by a 12-day cruise with the fleet off the West Indies, the president faced a heavy day almost from the minute his special train pulled in from Charleston, S. C.

Greeted At Station
Waiting to greet Mr. Roosevelt as he stepped from the presidential special at Union station were Mrs. Roosevelt, Postmaster General Farley, Secretary of Commerce Hopkins, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Assistant Secretary of State Sayre. The presidential party motored directly to the White House. The high spot of his appearances was to be before the 150th anniversary session of congress, where he, Chief Justice Hughes, Senator Key Pittman (Dem.) Nevada, and Speaker Bankhead all will speak over a national radio hook-up.

First, however, Mr. Roosevelt attended special services at St. John's Episcopal church, across Lafayette park from the White House. This annual custom was started on

'Food, Fun And Facts' Give Lawyers Thrills At Annual Assembly

There were no scruples against capital punishment in the Lawrence County Bar Association at the Field Club Friday night. Not a voice was lifted in protest, not a letter was written to The News, and nobody asked for a law preventing it. Eight well upholstered, nicely behaved lawyers made the supreme sacrifice in order that the lawyers of this county could get together for their annual banquet.

The "haut monde" would have called it a banquet, the boys in the backroom would have called it a feed for the way those disciples of Blackstone stowed away the victuals makes a buy in some good grocery stock look like a smart buy for an early rise.

Food, Fun And Facts
Lapsing into the alliterative style the whole evening could be summed up as one of food, fun and facts. The boys ate their food, the young lawyers furnished the fun and some excellent speakers furnished the

Mother Of Four Dies From Burns In Fire Near Erie

Valuable Papers,
Trapped

ERIE, Pa., March 4.—Mrs. Helen Bretz, 33, mother of four children, today succumbed to burns suffered late yesterday when flames demolished her frame farm home, seven miles south of here.

Although the woman was unable to give a coherent statement before her death in St. Vincent's hospital, authorities said they believed the fire was caused by an overheated stove and a kerosene lamp explosion. Mattha, age two, youngest of the children, was playing in the yard when the mother was forced to flee from her home. Officials said they thought the mother then re-entered the home in an attempt to save some important papers and that she became trapped in a room and had to smash down a locked door in order to escape.

Neighbors were unable to halt the flames. The woman's husband, Martin, was working on a WPA project at the time and three older children were in school.

Youth, Trying To Scare Girl

Near Princeton

Miss Stella Lapinsky, aged 16, of R. F. D. No. 6, is suffering from bruises sustained when she was struck by an auto driven by youths along the Butler road, near Princeton, around 7:30 o'clock Friday evening. The driver of the car did not stop. Miss Lapinsky was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where it was found no bones had been broken.

According to Miss Lapinsky's story she was walking along the edge of the road, when a car containing several youths came along and tried to scare her by driving right at her. They lost control of the car, going off the concrete onto the berm, and failed to get back onto the road in time to avoid striking her. They drove on without stopping to ascertain how badly she had been injured. Passing motorists brought her to the hospital.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—A movement toward formation of a "business recovery bloc" gained headway in congress today as administration overtures to business continued, and both treasury and congressional tax leaders sought means of easing business burdens. Seizing upon the administration's proposals for business cooperation, congressional leaders in finance were developing a five-point program for action in the present session. The program included:

1. Abandon proposal to raise debt limit from $45,000,000,000 to $50,000,000,000 in favor of economy.
2. Revise business taxes by abolishing undistributed profits tax and capital gains and loss levies.

Primary ballots for the first regular election of the Greater New Castle association will be mailed out March 15, the G. N. C. A. office today informed all who have pledged financial support.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Clashes of personalities, conflicts over the national labor relations law, and disputes over industrial unionism, loomed today as the peace committees of the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. prepared for their first meeting Tuesday.

Date for the first conference, arranged after President Roosevelt sent letters to William Green, A. F. of L. president, and John L. Lewis, head of the CIO, asking them to end labor's civil war, was tentatively fixed by secretary of labor Frances Perkins late yesterday.

In White House

The first meeting will be held in the White House. Secretary Perkins was to confer with the president late this afternoon and report to him on the peace negotiations.

Mr. Roosevelt himself was expected to shake hands with the negotiators and wish them godspeed. The first meeting was to be given over to arranging ensuing conferences. Lewis, who named himself to head the CIO committee, must leave for New York late Wednesday for wage scale meetings of his United Mine Workers union.

Members of the peace committees were:

A. F. of L.—Matthew Woll, Harry Bates and Thomas Rickett, all federation vice-presidents.
CIO—Lewis, Phil Murray and Sidney Hillman.

Lewis was the man who once blocked Woll's possible election as A. F. of L. president. It is a wound long since healed, but the pending conferences, crackling with possible clashes, may reopen it.

Rousing Ovation Given President

House Of Representatives Breaks Into Applause As Roosevelt Enters

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 4.—The house of representatives broke thru the solemnity of joint session ceremonies commemorating the 150th anniversary of the federal congress today with a rousing ovation for President Roosevelt.

Before the supreme court, and the diplomatic corps standing stiffly at attention, the house members started a wave of cheers and hand-clapping that quickly spread over the entire assemblage crowded into the house chamber, as the chief executive entered on the arm of the White House military aide, Col. Edwin M. Watson.

A full minute elapsed before the cheering and handclapping for Mr. Roosevelt subsided, as the president, unburied to a deep tan, took his seat just in front of Vice-President John Nance Garner, who was presiding.

The campaign against "chiseling" will be undertaken by the county personnel under the direction of the State Department of Public Assistance. It will be one of the first duties imposed on the new county assistance boards in line with the administration's policy of progres-

HAS BEEN LOCATED OVER FRENCH BORDER

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 4.—In a move which was believed to presage recognition of Generalissimo Franco's insurgent government, President Roosevelt today ordered Claude G. Bowers, ambassador accredited to the loyalist Spanish government, to return to Washington for "report and consultation."

Has Been In France

Since the outbreak of the civil war 31 months ago, Bowers has been outside of Spain. He has remained at St. Jean de Luz, France, just over the Spanish border. This became the temporary haven for foreign diplomats accredited to loyalist Spain who were caught at San Sebastian, on the bay of Biscay, where the official government customarily moved in the summer to escape the severe heat of Madrid, the capital.

It was said at the state department that no embassy official has been sent to Franco's capital, but it was expected that, after Bowers' return to Washington, immediate steps probably would be initiated to recognize the Franco government.

Cattle Rustling Charges Proves To Be Real Problem

(International News Service)
WHEELING, W. Va., March 4.—The charges of cattle rustling preferred against A. L. McGinnis, arrested near Alexander, Pa., on the complaint of Alva Dixon, today proved to be too much for Magistrate J. V. Moran.

It developed that McGinnis was employed by Dixon and was given a half interest in a $75 cow. McGinnis quit and took his half of the cow off the farm—the other half placently trailing along.

Magistrate Moran, unable to make head or tail of the affair, dismissed the complaint.

Hedy Lamarr Will Be Married In Mexico Today

Hedy Lamarr

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, March 4.—Hedy Lamarr, the Viennese actress, who startled the world a few years ago by appearing all natural in the sensational film, "Ecstasy" and now one of the most glamorous of the glamorous girls in Hollywood, will be married in Mexico City today to Gene Markey, former husband of Joan Bennett, the actress.

News of their plans to be wed, "somewhere in Mexico" was revealed exclusively to International News Service by Markey who has made his mark as a producer for Twentieth Century-Fox.

Although the pair have been romantically linked together since Hedy, divorced wife of Fritz Mandl, European munitions maker, has been in Hollywood the marriage plan of the pair was nonetheless a surprise.

Hedy was seen for at least a year in the company of Reginald Gardner, because, as she admitted to friends, "he was so safe." But she let it be known too, that so far as Markey was concerned it was a case of love at first sight.

Place and time of the ceremony was not disclosed by Markey, but he said that immediately after he and the beautiful Miss Lamarr were married they would leave for Beverly Hills where they will make their future home.

John Rutherford, the husband, of 66 Kendall avenue, Bradford, was reported by police to have been taken to the Bradford General hospital after receiving first aid at the scene of the crash on the "General Kane" highway.

State motor police said Rutherford was attempting to pass a truck when he ran head-on into a coal truck coming in the opposite direction. Alfred Fortunato, of Brockway, was said to have been driving the coal truck. He was reported not injured.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—America's three branches of government—the executive, the judicial and the legislative—proclaimed the immortality of democracy today in a joint session of the 76th congress, convened to commemorate the first.

President Roosevelt sounded the keynote.

Standing before the congress, the supreme court, his cabinet and a colorful array of the world's diplomats, Mr. Roosevelt challenged a world in which he recognized ambitious advancement of certain systems of "concentrated, self-perpetuating power" with these words:

Democracy Upheld
"Today, with many other democracies, the United States will give no encouragement to the belief that our processes are outworn, or that we will approvingly watch the return of forms of government which for two thousand years have proved their tyranny and their instability alike."

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes spoke for the judiciary, and echoed the president's words.

"The most significant fact in connection with this anniversary," he said, "is that after one hundred and fifty years, notwithstanding expansion of territory, enormous increase in population and profound economic changes, despite direct attack and subversive influences, there is every indication that the vastly preponderant sentiment of the American people is that our form of government shall be preserved."

WASHINGTON, March 4.—An international plot to smuggle American arms and warplanes through Canada, France and Belgium to Loyalist Spain on forged documents of the Turkish government was revealed today to have caused the fall of the Turkish cabinet.

As a result, two prominent American airplane corporations are under investigation by the Department of Justice, and repercussions of the scandal have shaken the capitals of five countries.

Amazing Plot

The amazing plot was nipped by the arms control division of the State Department, but not until 40 Grumman fighting planes, assembled by the Canadian Car and Foundry Co., of Port Williams, Ontario, Canada, had been shipped to Loyalist Spain through France.

Eight members of the Turkish cabinet, including the prime minister and war minister, have been displaced in a shakeup which followed revelation of the arms plot. Through investigations of the attempt to circumvent the neutrality embargo on shipment of American war implements to either side in the Spanish civil war have been launched by the American, Canadian, French, Belgian and Turkish governments.

March 4, 1933, just a few hours before he took his first oath as chief executive.

Cabinet Dinner

Tonight, at the fashionable Carlton hotel, the president will be entertained at dinner by his entire cabinet, also a yearly function.

It was anticipated that during the afternoon he would see various congressional leaders and departmental heads. Secretary of Labor Perkins in particular was to be called in to report on progress in the administration's effort to restore peace in the ranks of organized labor.

President Roosevelt brought word back to Washington that the United States fleet presented a capable front line of defense for the American democracies as a result of his observation of the war games. Further, he was prepared to report to congressional leaders that an immediate need existed for additional subsidiary naval and air bases at San Juan, Puerto Rico and St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. The executive indicated that he had reached these conclusions as a result of the Atlantic exercises wherein one fleet defended, another attacked, an imaginary continent 2,000 miles long and adjacent imaginary islands.

facts. And adding it all up from east to west, sitting or standing, it was another bulls eye in the banquet score of the Lawrence County Bar.

Following the service of the dinner, the junior members of the bar, headed by Elmer O'Neill presented a revue titled "Non Suis Juris", or "Obiter Dicta in the Old Mill." The coy Latin heading for the skit might fool some of you who never got out of the fifth grade until they burned the building down, but to the cognoscenti it means "not responsible". As a matter of fact the young bar-risters were responsible, responsible for a lot of razor edged barbs that went through a lot of boiled shirts and made two laughs where only one had grown before. It was open season on everybody in the bar, including the court and the court house officials.

Speakers Excellent

Former Judge J. Norman Martin, president of the bar, opened the speaking session by introducing former Judge James A. Chambers as the toastmaster of the evening and after a brief introductory speech Judge Chambers introduced Judges W. Walter Braham and Thomas W. Dickey who spoke. They took much less time than they do on Saturday morning in sentence court and their remarks were much more pleasant than the Saturday post-matrimonial remarks.

Attorney Clyde A. Armstrong, Pittsburgh attorney who was in the labor hearings of the Weirton Steel Company before the National Labor Relations Board was the main speaker of the evening, speaking on "Administrative Law".

In his address he pointed out the dangers of a continual growth of administrative laws and rulings which deny the theory of the three sided government of this nation. He warned that it was the duty of attorneys to fight for the retention of the kind of government the founding fathers handed down. His address was scholarly and fitted the occasion admirably.

Dean Sunderland of the University of Michigan was introduced and responded briefly as did Judge John H. Wilson of Butler, Judge George H. Rowley of Mercer and Judge Henry Wilson of Beaver.

The banquet committee was composed of George W. Muse, general chairman, Ray Humphrey, John G. Lamore, Thomas V. Mansell. Other committees follow.

4. Reduce next year's relief appropriation and revise administration.

5. Modify National Labor Relations act.

A major legislative battle was foreseen if the administration decides definitely to ask congress to increase the government bonding limit from $45,000,000,000 to $50,000,000,000.

May Beat Proposal

An incomplete canvass of the senate, it was asserted by a prominent Democrat, shows that a Democratic-Republican coalition could beat the proposal.

While a boost in the debt limit is not necessary before next year, the administration is expected to seek action in this session to void introducing the question in a campaign-year congress.

The several issues will move near a climax within the next few weeks when the treasury makes known its position on social security taxes, when the president decides whether a debt-limit boost will be asked, and when an examination of tax laws follows March 15 income tax returns.

To Consider Taxation

The House Ways and Means committee, now engaged in considering social security tax revision, is expected to consider the question of taxation in April.

The committee has been urged to abandon the present huge reserve fund under the security act. If this is done, experts say, the payroll tax can be stabilized at 1 1/2 per cent on employer and a like amount on employee, for years. The present one per cent rate increases to 1 1/2 per cent in 1940.

Senators Byrd (D) of Virginia and Van Nuys (D) of Indiana both issued demands today for concrete action to make effective the administration's promises of cooperation with business.

CHALLENGE GIVEN BY PRESIDENT IN CONGRESS SPEECH

they said democracy has proven its worth and must be preserved for the future.

The president made no effort to hide a scorn for autocracy, and constantly referred to its ascendancy in certain other nations of the world. He recited all the blessings and freedoms that the constitutional form of government brings its people, and set them sharply against other processes which, he said, "of late have re-incarnated the 'justice' of the dark ages."

Representative democracy, said Mr. Roosevelt, guarantees continuance of its own intrinsic benefits. It is, he said, a fine and simple thing, and may easily be defined.

"Safety Of System"

"The safety of the system of representative democracy," he went on, "is in the last analysis based on two essentials: first, that at frequent periods the voters must choose a new congress and a new president; and second, that this choice must be made freely, that is to say without any undue force against or influence over the voter in the expression of his personal and sincere opinion."

"That after all is the greatest difference between what we know as democracy, and those other forms of government which, though they seem new to us, are essentially old; for they revert to those systems of concentrated self perpetuating power against which the representative democratic system was successfully launched several centuries ago."

Makes Contrast

Bluntly, the president then contrasted inherent qualities of this democracy against the powerful ruling forces of other nations.

"Jury trial—do the people of our own land ever stop to compare that blessed right of ours with some processes of trial and punishment...?" he asked.

"The taking of private property without due compensation—would we willingly abandon our security against that in the face of the events of recent years?"

"The right to be safe against unwarrantable searches and seizures—our newspapers and rejoice that our firesides and our households are still safe."

"Freedom to assemble and petition the congress for a redress of grievances—the mail and telegraph bring daily proof of every senator and every representative that that right is at the height of an unrestrained popularity."

Freedom Of Speech

"Freedom of speech—yes, that too is unchecked, for never has there been so much of it on every side of every subject. It is indeed a freedom which because of the mildness of our laws of libel and slander, goes unchecked except by the good sense of the American people."

"Freedom of the press—I take it that no sensible man or woman believes that it has been curtailed or threatened or that it should be... representative democracy will never tolerate suppression of true news at the behest of the government."

"Freedom of religion—that essential of the rights of mankind everywhere goes back also to the origins of representative government. Where democracy is snuffed out there, too, the right to worship God in one's own way is circumscribed or abrogated."

"Shall we by our passiveness, by our silence, by assuming the attitude of the Levite who pulled his skirts together and passed by on the other side, lend encouragement to those who today persecute religion or deny it?"

"The answer to that is 'no,' just as it was in the days of the first congress of the United States it was 'no.'"

The president came to the solemn ceremonies in the big chamber of the house of representatives, directly from worship. After his special train brought him to the city, fresh from a sea trip to review the navy's Caribbean war games.

And Mr. Roosevelt closed his address before the congress with a plea to the Almighty to guide the nation in the paths of democracy.

"Our fathers, he concluded, 'right-

believed that this government which they set up would seek as a whole to act as a whole for the good governing of the nation. It is in the same spirit that we met here, today, 150 years later, to carry on their task. May God continue to guide our steps."

Ceremonies of the joint session made an impressive spectacle. ## "Believe It Or Not" Oddities Appear In Court Hearing

"The Ossified Man" Charges Contract Has Not Been Carried Out

"Believe it or not" some of Mr. Ripley's oddities were in the Lawrence county court room today, or at least they claim to have been in Ripley's exhibitions. They were present in the action to strike off a foreign attachment against Ray Marsh Brydon, who for the past week has been exhibiting a show in Ellwood City.

The action arose when Maurice Pierce, "The Ossified Man", laid a writ of foreign attachment against the show alleging that he had been brought from North Carolina upon a year's contract to work with the show and had been summarily dismissed a week ago.

Pierce is in a wheel chair, unable to move anything save his eyes, due to ossification of his bones. He claims to be destitute and may become a charge upon the county, it is said.

The argument this morning was to strike off the writ of foreign attachment and enable the show to get on to its next showing place on Monday.

FIGURES ON THIRD TERM

NOBODY in the 150 years of the Republic has been a candidate for a third elective Presidential term. George Washington waved away assurance of victory. President Grant wanted a third term, but his own party snuffed the flame of that ambition. Now comes Fortune Magazine with a survey that shows Mr. Roosevelt would be doomed to disappointment if he made the running. There is nothing surprising about that. There is a profound conviction in the American people that eight years in the White House are enough for any man. That gives the survey merit chiefly as exhibiting the preponderance of view.

The magazine concerned was less than one per cent out of the way as to Mr. Roosevelt's 1936 majority. So when it says that as of today only about one-third of the population—a figure remarkable in the light of large groups that are direct New Deal beneficiaries—would be for Mr. Roosevelt in 1940 it is something to sink the teeth into. We know another forecaster who has been singularly accurate. If Fortune's estimate is justified, it is reasonable to assume Mr. Farley had comparable figures on his desk some time ago. And what Mr. Farley knows, his Chief does, too.

SPRING'S TONIC

The sun is coming back. Light creeps into the windows earlier in the morning and stays longer at evening. There are cold days but even when they are chilliest and darkest, there are indisputable signs that the sun is coming back.

It is no strange that primitive men worshiped the sun. Reverence for the sun god persisted until long after civilization was well advanced and the human intellect had mastered many departments of wisdom and knowledge. Modern thought is different but it pays no less tribute to the healing, stimulating, inspiring influence of the sun.

Within a few days now the whole routine of life will change for millions of people. The work of the farm people will have begun. The lure of sport and outdoor recreation will call to millions at the week-ends. The whole outlook on life will change, and for the better. There will be less worrying. There will be more cheer and enthusiasm and delight. Health levels will rise.

It is no such a bad old world after all!

WEEDING PARTY WORKERS OUT OF WPA

Any move to divorce the WPA from politics would be a joke unless it required the elimination of party workers from supervisory jobs. The order for such elimination, made by the acting WPA head in Pennsylvania, is the only efficacious measure to be taken if the no-politics edict of Congress is to mean anything.

The non-relief section of the WPA has long been the stamping grounds of Democratic politicians. Before the last election there were 14,000 supervisory jobs in Pennsylvania work-relief. They were distributed by the Democrats as political pap. Division committees, actively working for the Democratic cause, occupied many of these positions and under them were the tens of thousands of relief workers, pliable objects of political pressure. The number of non-relief jobs has since been reduced to about 9000, but it may be accepted that prior weeding-out processes have not touched those most politically influential.

The new order prohibits the holders of supervisory posts from engaging in party management or political campaigns. That bars committee-men. It is to be hoped that the provision is still intact at the time it is most needed—during the next election campaign—Philadelphia Inquirer.

SOME LARGE MEN

An appropriation is being sought in Congress to enable Borglum to complete in the near future his heroic miniatures—which is a contradiction in words—in Rushmore, of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and the first Roosevelt.

The discussion of the subject in Congress has yielded a profusion of descriptive oratory worthy of any high school commencement or old fashioned Fourth of July.

But amidst all the verbiage there is enough solid fact to prove to even the most reluctant that something very large and important is taking place out in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Many of us have had the thought that this monumental memorial is a kind of freak affair on which to spend government money, and when that was done there might be something out there that would attract for a century or two the tourist in search of sights out of the ordinary.

In the words of the gentleman from Colorado, "there is being executed in the Black Hills the most colossal and sublime sculpture ever conceived by the mind and executed by the hand of man."

The first task was to strip away the surface stone until practically imperishable granite was laid bare, firmly rooted in the earth; and upon this surface with diamond drills and dynamite have been graven the first three of our national heroes, the fourth having not yet been begun, drawn to a scale of men as tall, within a few feet, as the Washington Monument in the Capital.

There is a possibility that long after the Sphinx and the Pyramids have turned to dust or been buried beneath it, and the knowledge of our civilization becomes as vague as is ours of ancient Egypt, some explorers may come upon these heroic statues and be forced to exclaim that there were giants on the earth in those days.

As we celebrate the month of great presidents we can rest assured that two of the offspring of February have won and held their place in our national history and will do so until that history is rolled up as a scroll.

As for Jefferson and Roosevelt, they were great men, yet they attained not to the first two. It has been scientifically determined that the rate of erosion in the granite was at the rate of one-fourth of an inch in a hundred thousand years.

It may be that the erosion of the years may wear away some of the high estimation in which Jefferson and Theodore Roosevelt are held, but Washington and Lincoln have a niche in our hearts and life which is perfectly secure for uncounted generations.

A man who went to register just before election was asked his trade. "Mason and builder," he replied. The next man in line was an old Irishman. When the question was put to him he said: "Knight o' Columbus an' bricklayer."

"Well, doc, you sure kept your promise when you said you'd have me walking again in a month."

"Well, well, that's fine."

"Yes, I had to sell my car when I got your bill."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HOME DISCIPLINE BUILDS CHARACTER

Why kill the goose that laid the golden egg? Are we not doing so as we rob the child of necessary self-control?

If, in accordance with current philosophy of child rearing, we let the youngster at home do about as he pleases until he is old enough to be reasoned with, he will have cultivated so strong habits of doing as he pleases that he will rarely choose to respond to reason.

Suppose you let him mar the furniture as he likes, romp and rough-house indoors, and roam without restraint about the neighborhood. When this child goes to other homes where there are children, he won't be welcome long.

Imitate Him

Other youngsters coming to your home, imitating him, will become so boisterous that you eventually will drive them away. Then your child's freedom will enslave him into solitude. The neighbors will complain about the vandalism of your young barbarian. The merchants will dread to have him in their stores, and eventually the police will spot him as a social nuisance. Who will be his friends?

When he goes to school, he will probably annoy his teacher in the classroom and halts and his playmates out-of-doors. If he goes to Sunday school, he may prove to be a little hellion. Suppose his school teacher or Sunday school teacher should put on a party at her home for his group. Let her tell of her experience. Suppose most of the boys in your neighborhood are of his ilk!

Halls Organization

Some gracious person on your street tries to organize a Den of Cubs and invites a group of boys in the block, from nine to 11 years of age. Suppose they almost wreck her house by running all over it. She probably gives up the undertaking in despair. Many such opportunities for wholesome social fun for children have been abandoned for such reasons.

Have you ever been a leader of Boy Scouts or the like? Many more fine young men and women would be glad to volunteer their services in all sorts of character-building organizations for children if more of these children had better character (self-control) to begin with. Churches and Sunday schools would put on ever so many more activities for children and youths if these youngsters weren't so ill-disciplined.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

IMAGINATION

In the olden days on Friday afternoons the public school pupils were required to give recitations and these recitations usually consisted of poetry memorized by the children. In those days the parents were invited to be present to listen to their young hopefuls. Today very little of this custom remains. In its place, the pupils are asked to write essays or stories; particularly stories, and some of these efforts are highly entertaining.

A teacher in a country school recently asked her class to write a story. Much ahead of all the others, one bright youngster announced that his story was ready.

"Read your story," the teacher requested.

And Willie began—"On the green slope of the mountain, stood a first class Jersey cow with three legs—"

"Hold on, Willie," interrupted the teacher, "that won't do. That is silly. You are one leg short."

"No, I ain't," answered Willie; "you just don't wait to get my plot. You see, a railroad train has cut off one of her legs, and the owner of the cow sued for five thousand dollars' damage from the railroad company and moved his family to Hollywood and they got there in time for the horse races at Santa Anita and that's where the oldest daughter met a rich movie actor at the race-track and married him and he soon died and left her all his million dollars of insurance money and she lived happy ever after."

After much controversy, the boundary was re-surveys and rounded around the various tracts of privately owned land along the county borders. The farmers thus didn't have to hand out taxes for a small piece of ground in an adjoining county. It was all paid in one county and everybody was happy.

March 12th Babies

As has been his custom for many years, the Hints and Dints Man will give Five Dollars to every baby born in Lawrence county on his birthday, March 12th. Proof of birth must be in the form of doctor's certificate or other substantial proof. Twins will get $15. Triplets $20 and we will give plenty to quints born on that day. We hope there will be lots of babies to claim the five dollars. This means only in Lawrence county and not all over the world.

Today I have this letter from a girl: "My mother's heart is broken on discovering that I have been deceiving her and have been secretly meeting my new boy friend outside."

I have done this because I'm ashamed to entertain him in a home where he will be received by Father in his shirt sleeves, where Grandmother will appear with her hair in crimpers, where Brother Bill will keep the radio blaring torch songs while we try to talk, where Uncle Jack will regale us with risqué stories, where the atmosphere is blue with pipe smoke, where the children are allowed to rush into the living room and ask rude questions and where the food will be grabbed from across the table should I ask him to dinner."

There is no doubt that etiquette courses for parents would prevent many good girls from going astray.

Reader's Question Answered

Dear Miss Markel—What is the proper procedure when writing on 'olded stationery'?

SUZY

Answer—If the letter is two pages long, it is customary to write on the first and then the third page. If it is four pages long, one may write on the first, second, third and fourth in regular order; or the first, third, second and fourth; or the first, fourth and then open the sheet and write straight down on the inside.

Economic Law Will Bring Prosperity
President Cannot Legislate It Back
Historians And Economists SkepticalBy CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Economists I talk with are none too sure the national administration, try as honestly hard as it may, can hurry America back into an era of very satisfactory prosperity in anything like the near future.

They agree that the stock market sets certain little fillips from President Roosevelt's assurance that business has nothing to fear, from Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's declaration in opposition to further taxation increases, and from Commerce Secretary Hopkins' promise of an environment in which private capital will be encouraged to invest. But is there any thing particularly basic about all this? Economists seem skeptical. Historians seem skeptical also. Maybe the historians' hope is more significant than the economists'. The economists' calculations are at rather short range. The historians reckon from big war to big war, assuming they generally are about a century apart.

The historians' theory is that the belligerent folk need approximately 100 years to recover from a major conflict. The so-called 100 years war was an illustration of it. Europe never was the same after it was over. And, until extremely modern times, the Napoleonic wars had their disorganizing effects upon international economics. The late Melvin A. Traylor, as president of the National City Bank of Chicago, an economic-historian of the first class, once told me that he believed Uncle Sam's panic of 1893 to be the last thunderclap of our War of Secession.

RECOVERY IS GRADUAL

Restoration to normalcy, following one of these convulsions, is extremely gradual. Indeed, usually there never is a complete return to pre-convulsion normalcy, as President Harding called it. As a comparison, on a small scale:

I can remember the San Francisco earthquake and fire. The San Franciscans never have admitted that they had an earthquake, but they do concede they had a fire. It burned up most of the place. The verdict was:

"How grand this is! Now we shall have an epoch of reconstruction!" Look what industrial activity it will imply!

I lived in San Francisco a few years later. The place then was municipally poverty-stricken. Why? Why, suppose an individual conserves his resources for a long time. And then suppose he has his savings chucked into an earthquake and a cook stove and sees them shaken down and burned off. Is he going to be better or worse off, in the interest of compelling him to start in again and re-create them. Ditto a municipality or a country or a world!

THE BACK-WASH

So far as the world war's concerned, we've had the back-wash anyway, even if we hadn't gone into it. Woodrow Wilson couldn't have helped it. He couldn't have kept us out of colossal complications. President Hoover couldn't have prevented our involvement—to employ an ungrammatical term—in its after-complications. And President Roosevelt has plenty of left-over problems to deal with. They're supposed to relate exclusively to this country's own internal development. They do, in part, but in part they're international.

I have my doubts if Harry Hopkins has much idea of international affairs. President Roosevelt unquestionably is an A-1 internationalist; so is State Secretary Hull. But their inclination seems to be to let Secretary Hopkins do the managing.

All right—Secretary Hopkins doesn't. But Hopkins is getting into control. Hull is being wished into obscurity. Why the administration picks Hopkins as its expert ahead of Hull, is a mystery to me. Secretary Hull recognizes that the whole world is poorer, by reason of the world war's destruction, than it was before that. Secretary Hopkins can't see that it's poorer than locally poorer.

The whole world is poorer, of course.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1939)

Mr. Jackson Makes It Clear

WASHINGTON, March 4.—FRIENDS of Solicitor General Robert Jackson are chagrined that the speech delivered by him in Topeka on February 22 got neither the newspaper notice nor the attention of either the public or the politicians to which it was entitled. For this reason, though the date is late, it is being brought up by some of his more ardent admirers, analyzed and explained.

UNDOUBTEDLY the Jackson speech was blanketed before delivery by Mr. Morgenthau's pained pronouncement about taxes, and, after delivery, by the great ghosted plea of the heroic Hopkins. In other words, it was lost in the launching of the "Administration drive" to placate business. In view of the fact that one New Deal journalist advertised Mr. Jackson in advance as "the authentic Voice of the White House" and that another now writes of his words as "echoing the President's private thoughts," and that still another declares that the ideas in the Jackson speech were "put there with the full approval of the President himself"—in view of these things plus the fact that it was avowedly political, there seems some soundness to the contention that its significance was overlooked.

IT IS therefore interesting, upon reading the full text of Mr. Jackson's address to discover that it is thoroughly deflated. If these are Mr. Jackson's "private thoughts," if Mr. Jackson, with his approval, is "supplementing" the President's Jackson Day speech, then the plain message is that unless all party dissension is immediately discontinued, unless the conservative Democrats who do not believe in Mr. Roosevelt's policies, rise above their convictions and accept them, then disaster is inevitable in 1940. A victory can only be won," said Mr. Jackson, "by keeping true to our principles and loyal to the greatest leader of our time."

FROM that sentence it is easy to believe that Mr. Jackson really is the "authentic Voice of the White House." Nothing else is needed. In effect Democrats are told that they are at their "Valley Forge," that the only way they can be saved is for the men whom Mr. Roosevelt tried to drive out of the party last year and all others who think he has made a mess of things to fall into line at once and unqualifiedly accept his leadership again—not for a third term, of course, but as to everything else. According to Mr. Jackson, if that isn't done the party is sunk.

THAT is really all there is to the speech. It amounts to a Presidential prediction that unless the conservatives quit, unless all opposition in Congress and in the party ceases, unless a platform and candidate inspired by "the greatest leader of our time" is put forward next year, the Democratic candidate will be beaten no matter who he may be. There is no other way to interpret Mr. Jackson's words. Unquestionably, that is the idea behind them and as Mr. Jackson is too intelligent to think possible either a third nomination for his Chief or that Democratic factions will get together on the basis of complete surrender to New Deal leadership, he must regard the party prospect as pretty poor.

HE does not say, as does Mr. Ernest Lindley, the New Deal journalist, who is close to the President, too, that a million New Dealers will vote the Republican ticket if a conservative like Mr. Garner is nominated by the Democrats, but the effect is the same. Nor does he say that a 1940 defeat will make a return of Mr. Roosevelt in 1944 probable, but there is no other way to view his expression of the feeling of "liberals" about a 1940 defeat. "They believed," Mr. Jackson says, "that even defeat may leave a silver lining. For, in their view, defeat may chasten the party and cleanse it of those

Savannah Services Have Proven Popular

Revival Meetings Continue; Dr. Cousins Of Croton Is Evangelist

Revival meetings which were begun last Sunday evening at Savannah M. E. church are proving to be of great interest to all attending. Each evening the size of the audience is increasing and the spirit of revival is growing.

Spirited song services are conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. H. Eckert. Last Wednesday a number of visitors from Clifton Flats mission attended in a body, and Archie Gibson and his helpers from the City Rescue mission furnished special musical numbers. Thursday evening Sam Burrows and his daughter, Mae, of Ellwood City, gave several splendid messages in song. Rev. Dr. J. A. Cousins, pastor of the Croton Avenue M. E. church, has been bringing spirit filled messages every night. Last night his church contributed to the musical program, as did the Savannah children's choir. A special youth rally is planned for Sunday evening.

Special Sermon In Trinity Episcopal

"An Alarm-Bell Which Leads to Human Progress," will be the subject of a special sermon in Trinity church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock by the rector, the Rev. Philip C. Pearson. He will deal with the fact that people try to avoid or forget many things in life which keep thrusting themselves forward. This means they must have value. Why not recognize this fact, face it at par value, and take advantage of it for the good of humanity? Why not weld into our present thinking and living the priceless treasures we inherit from the past? Mr. Pearson will discuss an idea many people outlaw at present and attempt to show that best results come from a review and synthesis of past and present.

Rev. F. Russell Schillinger, new pastor of the Hoover Heights Gospel Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, in South New Castle Boro, will be in the pulpit on Sunday.

SIMPLE TASK TO TEST GERMINATION OF SEED

Checking germination will insure planting garden seeds that will produce a good stand of plants. Testing is particularly important with home-grown seeds and those purchased in bulk. If the percentage of germination is given, another test usually is unnecessary.

The best way to test germination is in soil. This can be done by placing 100 seeds in a shallow box not quite filled with soil. Cover such seeds as lettuce, cabbage and tomatoes with one-fourth inch of soil. Larger seeds, as those of beans, corn and peas, require a covering of about one inch. Use loose soil, preferably sand.

Another method, but not quite so accurate, is the use of blotters. Place 100 seeds between two blotters, dampen, and lay between two plates or saucers, the top one inverted to prevent drying. Keep at ordinary room temperature with the blotters moist but not too wet. The seeds will sprout in a week to 10 days after which they may be counted to determine the percentage that germinate. Seeds showing weak germination should not be counted since they may sprout under ideal conditions but may not prove satisfactory under natural conditions.

BEST GRAPE CLUSTERS FOLLOW CANE PRUNING

Although commercial growers recognize the necessity of severely pruning grape vines each year, some question exists as to the proper method. Pruning insures the production of good clusters and helps maintain the vigor of the vines.

Most growers believe that Concord, Niagara, Worden and other eastern varieties, should be pruned to "canes" rather than "spurs". However, a few use the older method.

The first and second buds at the base of the cane produce only a few, comparatively small clusters. The third bud is usually only a fair producer while the fourth is frequently satisfactory. The mid-section of the cane has the best fruiting buds. These near the tip are poor.

It is for this reason that in cane pruning a few of the best canes are saved and the ends removed. Most growers leave them three to four feet long with from eight to 12 buds. Other canes are removed entirely, except perhaps for an occasional spur left for renewal the succeeding year. The best canes have plump, well-developed buds, are short jointed and about four to seven feet long. They are about as thick as a lead pencil or slightly thicker.

Lack of pruning, cultivation and fertilization may reduce growth that none of the canes will meet these requirements. With vigorous vines, some canes may be too thick.

tractive unit. Place an orange crate on its side, then stand the orange crates on their ends at either side of the first crate. Be sure that the rough boards have been smoothed so there will be no sharp splinters which may harm the child. Crates may be painted so they can be cleaned easily.

With such a storage unit the child may learn many lessons which will be invaluable to him in later life. He may keep his books in orderly fashion and it will be easy for him to place his toys on the low shelves when he has finished with them. It is a good plan to guide the child in putting one toy or a group of toys away before getting out another.

The child may have a plant which is "tall his" on the center crate. This will be low enough so that he can water and care for it himself and it will help to instill a love for nature and growing things.

One or two pictures in bright colors help the child to learn to appreciate a few good ones. These may be pictures of children, animals, or flowers. They should be simple in detail in order that the child will not have too much to grasp as he looks at them.

It is more fun for the child and much better for him to have new play materials appear from time to time, especially on a rainy day. Try laying away a few of his toys and bring them out as occasion demands, Miss Markle suggests.

Such a plan prevents over-excitement and confusion resulting from a display of every available piece of play equipment at one time. A cluttered room is never attractive and while one or two toys are at their height of popularity, others can be easily put out of sight for a time.

Miss Markle points out that you can help your child to help himself by giving him some of the arrangements that have been suggested. Assistance for planning storage space may be obtained by writing or calling the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

that has been regarded as peculiarly significant. This idea may owe its origin to readers of the Bible, who have noted that Moses was 40 days on the mount; Elijah was fed for 40 days by the ravens; the rain of the flood fell for 40 days; another 40 days elapsed before Noah opened the window of the ark; Jonah allowed Nineveh 40 days to repent; Jesus fasted 40 days; He was seen 40 days after His resurrection.

Purim Joyous Day For Jews

Holiday Commemorates Deliverance Of People From Malice Of Haman

OBSERVANCES HERE TONIGHT AND SUNDAY

As winter wanes, Jews throughout the world prepare to celebrate Purim, the carnival holiday on the Jewish calendar which will fall on tomorrow, March 5, this year. The spirit of celebration will begin this evening.

The traditional story of Purim, contained in a separate scroll which is read in the Synagog, is based upon a legend involving three men and a woman. King Ahasuerus of Persia was not acquainted with all the people in his kingdom, of whom many were Jewish. Haman, who happened to be the courtier next to the king's ear, did not like Jews because he had difficulty with a single Jew.

Mordecai's cousin Esther, by her beauty, won a place in the harem of the king. In devotion to her people, Esther revealed to her sovereign Haman's intention of seizing the throne and of destroying her with the rest of her people. Esther's heroism turned the tide. Haman received the punishment which he had planned for the Jews and Mordecai was honored for his loyalty and integrity.

Linked with the holiday marking deliverance, and as a joyous day that looks toward spring, there is a deeper significance to the festival. To Jews of every generation, Purim brings again the message that Judaism has triumphed over hatred in the past and that it can continue to do so. In honor of this story of deliverance Jews throughout the ages have made Purim gay with feets, plays, donations to the poor etc. Amidst persecutions abroad this year, the Purim tale will carry its word of hope and its challenge to bigotry.

Temple Israel will observe Purim with an entertainment by the religious school on Sunday, March 5, at 2:30 p. m. At Tifereth Israel Synagog, the Scroll will be read this evening, March 4, at 7 o'clock. The entertainment by the Sunday school will take place Sunday, March 5, at 7:30 p. m.

Hungarian Authorities Seek To Stamp Out 'Wine Breakfasts' For Children

(International News Service)
BUDAPEST, Hungary, Mar. 4.—The Rockefeller foundation and central and departmental authorities have launched a concentrated drive to stamp out "wine breakfasts" for children. In some country districts 45 per cent of school children drink wine for breakfast instead of milk or coffee.

Village teachers complain that the first lesson is quite inefficient every morning, as many pupils fall asleep at their desks. Boys and girls from six to ten years begin their day with one or two glasses of bad, cheap wine. They stumble along the long road from their home to the village school. They are dizzy and weak. At school they are unable to answer the teachers' questions. Sometimes they start singing or quarreling in the classroom. The teachers are helpless.

Blamed On Depression
Economic depression is the cause of this. The price of wine has dropped very much in the last ten years. Milk on the other hand is expensive. Most of the landless peasants or small farmers can afford wine, but cannot afford milk. Those who have one or two cows have to sell their milk to earn their living.

The "Institution of Public Health," an adjunct of the local Rockefeller Foundation and helped by the government and local authorities has started a vigorous campaign against this. Free milk is given to thousands of children at school. In many districts they are also given free sugar. The small children seem to prefer milk to wine. In the eastern district Orseg, where most children were drunk addicts, the percentage of "wet" children dropped from 45 to 12 in six months, due to the efforts of authorities.

Stealing Wives Found Expensive

British Courts Award Heart Balm To Wronged Husbands

(International News Service)
LONDON—British divorce judges and juries were today making it more and more expensive for Englishmen to steal another man's wife.

Nearly $75,000 heart balm, ranging in sums of $135 to $17,500 was awarded eight wronged husbands in the divorce courts here in one week. In one day alone they netted over $20,000.

A study of the figures, legal experts state, seem to show that bigger damages awards are now being made.

The general increase in the number of divorce suits in Britain today and the fact that there are now five divorce court judges instead of three, it is pointed out, may account for the frequency with which damages are being awarded.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

IS DIAGNOSED AS APPENDICITIS

Before concluding our discussion of the disease which affects the digestive tract in young children, I think it would be well to give a little time to that very serious disease, appendicitis.

I'm sure you all know what a serious thing appendicitis can be in adults. They realize that a pain in the abdomen is serious and can help the doctor diagnose it. But the child can't; with him it is just a pain in the stomach. So the child may not receive the proper attention until the infection has gained much headway and the child's condition is serious.

The appendix is a small structure which is attached to the bowel. In shape it resembles nothing so much as a fair-sized worm. It usually lies in the lower part of the abdomen on the right side. This organ, so far as we have been able to discover, is of no use to us, but it has caused the deaths of a great many people. It is a common cause of serious trouble in children of two years and up. Of course it can happen to younger children. In fact, I remember a baby of three months that died of it; that was the youngest baby I ever saw with it. In that case the baby had been sick for some time. The mother thought it might be constipated so she gave it a dose of castor oil—the very worst thing she could have done. Well, they called me, but by the time I got there the appendix had ruptured and the child died in a couple of hours.

Perhaps this is a good time to warn that cathartics are very dangerous things to use when a person has appendicitis. I have seen deaths in both children and adults that I know wouldn't have happened if the patients hadn't been given some strong physic.

One of the difficult diagnoses in medicine is that of appendicitis in a young child. This is because so much of the diagnosis depends on the manner in which the pain began and its exact localization to one point in the abdomen. A youngster can't answer questions relating to these points with any degree of accuracy, and so what the doctor learns must be based almost entirely on what the mother has been able to observe.

A great many children have lost their lives because of the old-fashioned belief that eating green apples is always followed by stomach-ache. Actually there are very few things which cause pain in the abdomen in childhood apart from appendicitis and so if your child develops a pain in his stomach accompanied by nausea and vomiting, he should be seen by a doctor at once. I want to emphasize this statement, for years of practice have proven to me that it is very, very true.

When the doctor does diagnose the pain as appendicitis, don't try to stop him if he thinks an operation is necessary. An operation in the early stages of the infection isn't serious at all, but every hour that diseased appendix remains in your child's abdomen, the dangers are increased. I say this because there have been times in my experience when parents have been unwilling to allow an operation, and precious time has been lost while I went and got their preacher or priest to back up my arguments.

BROADWAY HIT WILL BE REVIEWED MONDAY NIGHT BY MRS. RESCH

Interest is being shown in a "play review" being planned for Monday night at eight o'clock in the First Christian church of Youngstown, O., which avenue and Spring street, in which Mrs. Marion Gilchrist Resch will be heard in a review of a current Broadway smash hit, "Abraham Lincoln." The play review is being sponsored by the Mahoning chapter of the D. A. R.

The Monroe Doctrine was pronounced in a presidential message on the third of December, 1923.

Union Township Civic Club Will Meet On Tuesday

Meeting of the Union Township Civic Association, that was scheduled for Friday night, was postponed until Tuesday, March 7.

This meeting will be held in the Union Township high school, according to the president, Walter A. Kieler. It was necessary to postpone the meeting, because of a school program on Friday night.

Cattle Feeding Meetings Planned

State College Expert Will Be Here To Discuss Matter With Dairymen

According to D. H. Ricks, acting county agent, R. H. Olmstead, dairy extension specialist from the Pennsylvania State college, will be in the county on Tuesday, March 7, to lead the discussion at two dairy cattle feeding meetings.

These meetings will be held at New Wilmington in the fire house at 1:30 p. m. and in the East Brook garage hall at 8 p. m.

Due to the recent reduction in the price of milk to the farmers considerable interest is anticipated in these meetings. The feeding cost is the principle item of expense to all dairy cattle owners, and any reductions to be made in this line is money in the owner's pocket. Anyone interested in these meetings is welcome to attend, it is stated.

Peter Police Attended Four Different Services In Italy During 1936

One of the Seventh Ward residents, Peter Police, of 210 Montgomery avenue, is more than pleased by the selection of Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, as Pope Pius XII, in-so-far as he has had the opportunity of hearing the new Pope speak on four occasions.

Charges Democrats Spent Two And Half Million For Office

Successful Republican Candidate For Mayor Of Chicago Charges Kelley Forces

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, March 4.—In the absence from Chicago of Mayor Edward Kelly and other party chieftains, there was no immediate answer today from the local Democratic organization to the charge by Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for mayor, that the Kelly organization spent $2,500,000 to accomplish the mayor's renomination this week.

"Leaders of the machine," the candidate declared in opening his campaign in a radio broadcast last night, "engaged in the wildest spree of spending Chicago has ever seen. They forced every man and woman of their entire political machine into action."

"Chicago saw the most brazen demonstration of coercion and plunder Tuesday in its century of history," the Republican candidate charged, adding that the Democratic organization headed by Mayor Kelly and county chairman Pat Nash "forced men in the ranks of the WPA, the PWA and people on relief to vote its ticket. They made a chain gang of the unfortunates of our city and under the lash made them protect their bread by voting Kelly-Nash."

City-County Floor Tourney Starts Tuesday

Twenty-Four Teams Toe Line Ready To Start Quest Of 1939 Championship

THREE GAMES ON FIRST NIGHT

With 24 basketball teams from all parts of the county awaiting at the barrier the second annual city-county basketball tournament will start at George Washington Junior high floor on Tuesday night at 7 o'clock. There will be three games played on Tuesday and every night up until Saturday.

The tourney proceeds will go to the New Castle Music Council to help the three junior high schools with their music problems. Anthony "Tony" Conn is general chairman of the tourney and has a very capable committee working with him.

Gersons 1938 Champs
The Gerson team will be the defending champion this year, having taken the title by defeating a very good Epworth M. E. team last year. Coach Mike Kulich will have his strongest possible team in the tourney to try and repeat this year. The Gersons will play the opening night meeting the Wabash Bears in the third game on the card.

In the first game Tuesday night the St. Nicholas team with such stars as Luke Rowe, former New Castle high and Pitt star, in the lineup along with Ray Bombyk, the New Castle high center this past year, Johnny Uram and Johnny Teplica in the lineup will give the Shenango Ex-High Stars a tough old battle for victory. These two teams will have the honor of opening the tourney.

Another Trophy
In the second game the Franklin Ex-High Stars, sporting such luminaries as Jimmy Clark, Ralph Pugh, Larry Roberts, Tom Parou and Tom Robinson, will battle the Ex-Hi-Y Stars composed of such well known players as Dan Woolcock, Glenn Gordon, Harold Gibson, Harold Reebie, Bob Meermans, Bill Campbell and Sam Byers in what shapes up as a lively contest.

The latest company to donate a trophy to the tourney is the Penn Power through Paul Dingley, it was announced by Joe Howley, a member of the prizes committee of the tourney. It will go to the best individual player in the tourney.

Season tickets are on sale and have been going good. They sell for 50 cents for the entire set of tournament games.

FACTOR GIRLS LOSE AT SHARON

The Factor girls basketball team traveled to Sharon last night and were defeated by the Julia Buhl club girls team 33 to 24, losing the game at the foul line by making but three out of 18 tries, while the winners dropped in 16 out of 22.

The locals were handicapped by playing girls rules, they have been playing boys rules all year long. Scoring stars in the game were Flick and Johnson for Sharon and Helen Uram, Jean Cerutti and Mildred Dewberry for the factors. The new addition to the Factor team, Miss Ann Hensley, played a fine game.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

The Pitt situation—Word that Alec Fox, former New Castle high grid ace, has resigned as chief aide of Dr. John Bain Sutherland, lends more credence to the rumor that the silent Scot is on his way out. Since the close of the 1938 season, four members of the strategy board have given up their posts. Why? Because they dislike Jock? No. They'd stick to the end for the grand genius of the gridiron.

In Fox's case, the former Hurricane griddler, who played on the frontier line, finds it impossible to devote all his time to the gridiron job, the reports state. Fox is affiliated with a Pittsburgh cement plant and chose the more lucrative thing. Fox's career, after finishing up at Pitt, has been a cross country affair. First he played semi-pro ball, then he coached at Oil City high and next at Martins Ferry. He branched out in the college ranks, going to the University of Pennsylvania, as line coach for Harvey Harman, another New Castle luminary. He was stationed there until he returned to Pitt in 1937. Alec succeeded Charles Bowser as Sutherland's first lieutenant. To the annals of New Castle, he ranks as one of the smartest football players ever developed. Fox is a prince in every way.

Something about baseball—The new ruling which provides that pitchers need keep one foot on the rubber in delivering the ball, is expected to help many of the chuckers in the big show. 'Tis rumored that Bill Beckman, veteran right hander, obtained by Connie Mack by draft from Atlanta, can hit a dime with either his fast ball or curve ball 60 feet away. He'll perform the trick nine times out of 10, so they say. . . . Bill Terry, of the Jints, has selected himself as third base coach. . . . Ernie Lombardo, at 225 pounds, is one of the heaviest players on the Cincinnati Reds and yet has the lightest appetite. . . . Before they arrive back home, April 18, The Pittsburgh Pirates will have covered a total of 8,245 miles. . . .

A bit of everything—Jimmy Crowley, Fordham pilot, started his seventh season a couple of days ago when he sent his grid squad through the first drills of the spring training season. . . . Jack Dempsey is trying his luck in a new venture, a Broadway clothing store. You'd think that running a couple of restaurants, a hotel, an apartment house and managing fighters would be enough action for any man. . . . Ever since he announced he would operate a small fight club, Benny Leonard has been swamped with letters from ambitious kids who want to learn the mitt business from the former champ. . . .

Facts for sport fans—Big table tennis matches usually run between 60 and 75 minutes. A title match in Prague, only three years ago, was called a draw after 7½ hours of play. Three successive referees gave up, so did the spectators. The constant battled exactly 2 hours and eight minutes for one point. . . . Judge K. M. Landis, baseball's high commissioner, studied law at Cincinnati and Northwestern university. . . . G. Garvey, Boone, Ia., threw 13 double ringers in succession during a horseshoe game in Des Moines, Ia. . . .

Third U. P. Tops Presbyterians In Church Loop Game

The Third U. P. team of the East Side won a close one last night from the Central Presbyterians in the New Castle Church basketball league at the "Y" floor 30 to 29, with Bob Kimmel and Hahn the scoring stars of the battle.

The second game was also a close affair, the First Christians nosing out the Second U. P. team 20 to 19, in a fast and thrilling battle. Nolte and Hughes led their respective teams in scoring.

In the third and final game on the bill the Epworth M. E. champions toyed with the St. George or Greek Orthodox team to the tune of 47 to 29, with Davey O'Brien the scoring star of the game.

Socials To Play St. Mary's Tonight At Shelby Court

ELLWOOD CITY, March 4.—Judging by the enthusiastic interest being displayed by sports fans, there will be a banner crowd on hand tonight at the Shelby court to see an exhibition game between the Shelby Socials and the St. Mary's team of Beaver Falls.

St. Mary's, a member of the Pennsylvania-Ohio league, is without question one of the strongest teams in this section, and this is proven by victories over Oil City, North Braddock, Aliquippa, New Castle Boosters, Polish Falcons and Pittsburgh teams. Their team, composed of former Geneva, New Brighton and Beaver Falls stars, averages six feet one inch in height and having played together for a number of years present an admirable combination of co-ordination and ability.

Early in the season, this team gave the Socials their worst shelling of the year and the local crew will be out tonight in no uncertain terms to avenge that setback in a game that will provide plenty of action and excitement for the bleacher crowd.

Coach George Patterson will probably start Robuck and Latiano, forwards; Ursu, center, and Tomel and Gotsu, guards, for the Socials.

The main event will begin at 8:30 p. m., with the preliminary game between the Office and the Cold Draw of the Shelby inter-department league will begin at 7 o'clock. The usual Saturday night dance will follow the contests.

Stock Market Continues Rise

Many Issues Reach New High Ground For Year During Morning

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 4.—The stock market continued its upward trend in today's abbreviated session with scores of individual issues reaching new high ground for the year.

Trading was active at the opening as buying was carried over from the previous close. Activity tapered off later, when profit-taking reduced initial gains, but the list firmed anew in the second hour. Final prices were not far from the day's tops.

A few scattered groups failed to participate in the further advance, notably aviation shares, and traction. These have been under profit-taking recently, following their active rise earlier.

Farm implements, motors, coppers, rubbers and rail equipments were best performers, rails and steels were a shade higher in most instances.

Included in the list of representative stocks to reach new highs for the year were American Telephone, International Harvester, General foods, Union Pacific, McIntyre Mines, Firestone, and Liggett and Myers "B".

Westinghouse Electric ran up a point and Eastman Kodak 2 before profit-taking was encountered. General Motors continued active, after opening on a block of 5,000 shares.

No Improvements Are Planned For Cunningham Park

Recommendations Have Been Made For Improving Cascade Park

Several years ago extensive improvements were proposed and launched in Cunningham park. However, work was stopped and indications are no further improvements are planned at present. The work started for the purpose of providing men with work and a considerable amount of money was expended by the federal government.

The plot was cleared off, several miles of road made and also several miles of stone gutter constructed. Two stone buildings were erected. It was proposed at that time to connect Cunningham park not only with Gaston park but also Cascade park. All sorts of athletic fields were planned for Cunningham park.

In Gunton park a stone building was constructed and also a stone bridge. A bridge trail was also planned. It was anticipated that this park would become a popular place for residents of the district during the warm, sultry months.

At present it is proposed to remove a comfort station, made of stone, from Cunningham park, to Cascade park. It will be removed by stone. The Cascade park station will be constructed near the entrance to the grove. The station will be connected to the sanitary sewer.

Recently the City Park commission in making recommendations for the operation of Cascade park, included one, that an assembly building be constructed in the grove. It would have accommodations for a group of 100. It could be used for dance purposes, if necessary.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The 75th birthday of Sir Wilfred Grenfell, the great humanitarian of the bleak coast of Labrador occurred on the 1st day of February. It was a reminder that nobility of character and magnificent self-sacrifice still endures in this lunatic age. Forty-seven years ago God remembered that there was such a place as Labrador. It came to His mind that all along that bleak coast were human beings by the thousands, in the most abject misery, starving and coughing their lives out. The worst coast in the world.

And then, on June 13th, 1892 a little sailing vessel set out from Yarmouth, England, bearing a young London doctor named Wilfred T. Grenfell. He was on a mission of mercy without precedent in history. And that mission was to save a lost race from extinction. Alone and without money he began his work, and today his reward is six hospitals, seven nursing stations, four hospital ships, four orphanage boarding schools, fourteen industrial centers, three agricultural stations, twelve clothing distribution centers, a Seaman's Institute at St. John's, N. F.; a supply schooner, a cooperative lumber mill, and a haul-up slip for schooner repairs.

The restless mind of man—his yearning for new things—drives him to the ends of the earth. Usually he goes for gold or glory or for the sheer love of adventure. Wilfred Grenfell went to the bleak, ice-locked land of Labrador solely for the love of God and the brotherhood of man. It was during the eighties that he heard Dwight L. Moody, the great evangelist, speak in England. It changed his whole life. He made up his mind that the souls of men were in as much need of physicians as their ailing bodies.

When he was graduated from Oxford and finished his medical studies, he crossed the Atlantic and went to Labrador. He found misery, ignorance, starvation. He found a land of forgotten souls. And there he began his life's work—one of the finest achievements to the credit of mankind. He built his first hospital. He established cooperative stores. He began to teach. He married the young and buried the dead. He learned to accept as a commonplace the savage winds, the intense cold, the terror of the white silence. He endured it all, eagerly, smilingly, so that those primitive men and women, so like children, could receive his aid.

He's 75 now, a frail man, so frail that the light of goodness that burns in his soul glows through his material body. In his steady blue eyes is a glow and twinkle like the Northern Lights at play. His face is deeply tanned, almost bronzed. His hair is white. The whole world knows his work after all those years of sacrifice.

College men and women have joined him in unselfish service. Four hospitals have been established. Universities have honored him with their degrees. King George has knighted him. He should have been made a noble lord, for a nobler soul can hardly be found in all the sweep and swing of history. No peril or hardship ever daunted him in all those bitter-hard years of his almost hopeless, yet triumphant work in Labrador.

There's steel in the soul of this knight of Christianity. In a night of savage cold, when the Arctic winds cut like a knife, Dr. Grenfell received a call to attend a sick Indian woman. He set out with his dog team over a frozen arm of the sea. The wind increased in violence. The ice broke up. He was caught in the crackling, booming floes, facing almost certain death. The ice gave way and plunged him and his dogs into the icy water. By a desperate effort he pulled himself out upon a block of ice that held. Then, one by one, he rescued his faithful dogs. His clothing froze solid.

He knew that he must freeze to death unless he killed some of his dogs to make a fur coat against those terrible arctic blasts. But he held back until growing drowsiness warned him that death was creeping upon him. And then with sadness in his heart, he killed three of his dogs, skinned them and wrapped the warm furs around his body. All that night he huddled, bent double but the next morning he was found and rescued just in time. This man has looked on death and not been conquered.

The market for bicarbonate of soda took a sharp upward turn today. In the offices of many of the lawyers the soothing sizz of the fizzing soda could be heard over the hum of typewriters and the clang of telephones. The barristers were getting over their Friday night turkey binge.

It was a grand party, the food was good, the speeches were good and the stunts were clever. The dinner may have caused a trifle of distress in the legal tumblers but most of them think it was worth it.

Personal property taxes are beginning to roll. On Friday $4500 was paid into the county treasury by taxpayers who wanted to get the matter finished. Like a toothache there isn't any use waiting, for it just prolongs the agony.

While the plot of lots in Chewton was laid out in 1825 by the late Benjamin Chew it seems that the plan was never filed in the court house. A petition was handed up Friday asking that testimony be taken and that the map of the plot be filed among the archives of the court house.

Miss Edith Cowden of the permanent registration office is the current casualty to the grip. She has been off work for several days but is recovering.

Divorce court was in progress in court rooms one and two on Friday. Judge W. Walter Brahm heard the cases in court room number one and Judge Thomas W. Dickey in court room number two. There was little difference in the stories told by the libellants. Beatings, drunkenness, desertion, cruelties of various kinds, the usual parade of marital deficiencies.

Your Federal Income Tax

DEDUCTION FOR LOSSES OTHER THAN FROM SALE OR EXCHANGE OF CAPITAL ASSETS

Deductions for losses are divided into four classes, and to be allowed must follow closely the wording of the income-tax law. Losses are deductible if incurred (1) in the taxpayer's trade, business or profession; (2) in any transaction entered into for profit; (3) from fires, storms, shipwreck, or other casualties, or from theft; and (4) from wagering transactions.

Business losses, result usually from the purchase and sale of merchandise. Such losses usually are ascertained by means of inventories, which are required whenever in the opinion of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue their use is necessary to determine the income of any taxpayer.

The term "transaction entered into for profit" means any kind of business proposition. For example, a taxpayer purchases an automobile to be used solely for business purposes, and which is sold at a loss. As this is a business proposition from start to finish the loss is deductible subject to the limitations of section 117. But if he had purchased the automobile to be used for pleasure or convenience the deduction would not be allowed; it was not a transaction entered into for profit.

A loss sustained in the theft of an automobile purchased for pleasure or convenience is deductible as it falls in class 3. If because of faulty driving but not of "willful negligence" an automobile maintained for pleasure is damaged, the taxpayer may claim the loss sustained, as it comes within the meaning of the word "casualty." Where damages result from the faulty driving of an automobile, with which the automobile of the taxpayer collides, the loss occasioned the taxpayer likewise is deductible.

Losses from wagering transactions, whether legal or illegal are deductible only to the extent of gains from such transactions. The excess of such losses over the gains is not deductible.

All losses are deductible only to the extent to which they are not compensated for by insurance or otherwise. Deductible capital losses are further subject to the limitations of section 117.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Of every five men aged 20, one has defective vision.

Many are not conscious of this handicap.

Some know it but are unwilling to take steps to correct it.

With age the eye loses capacity to adjust itself to distance.

Thus the eye tends to become farsighted.

Pitted glasses are then necessary for reading and sewing.

Defective eyesight in early life should be promptly corrected.

Defective vision seldom corrects itself.

Near-sightedness becomes aggravated with time and neglect.

Many schools now have sight-saving classes.

Children with defective vision are given aid.

Poor vision is a very realistic handicap.

AROUND CITY HALL

Mayor Charles E. McGrath took a day off Friday and during his absence Finance Director James L. Fink acted as the mayor of the city. However, Acting Mayor Fink had little work to do as chief executive Friday.

Chief of detectives Ray Showalter has posted a notice asking that police officers entrench themselves firmly behind the Greater New Castle Association move's efforts to help the city.

With spring-like weather here police have received complaints concerning the activities of boys in different sections. In telephoning complaints most persons term the boys "bad". However, the fact remains that while boys are expending energy pent up since last fall they are not what one would truthfully term "bad."

Three desk sergeants at police headquarters are Sergeants G. C. Sylling, 8 a. m.-4 p. m. turn; James Steiner, 4 p. m.-midnight turn, and M. J. Young, midnight-8 a. m. turn.

Wayne Sines acts as a relief sergeant. These men are qualified under government regulations to broadcast police calls to police cruiser cars from WPGT station.
